Bail lists aims of higher education

Self examination and re-evaluation are what the country's universities need at the present time, according to Omaha U's President Milo Bail.

Speaking at the last lecture in the Faculty Lecture Series Tuesday evening, Dr. Bail said that a more pertinent statement of purposes and philosophy in education must be developed to insure quality performance in the prediction of well-educated citizens for a society in the stages of transitions.

"The university", he said, "must be organized to mobilize the education resources of the university departments, divisions or colleges, yet each part so integrated that there is unity in the whole."

According to Dr. Bail, one division, the university college, must be organized to mobilize the education resources of the university as a whole, in order to provide for the needs of all students. Upon such a college would be built the other divisions of the university.

The continuing liberal, technical, vocational, and professional colleges would allow the cream of the crop to pursue the curricula which would prepare them best for positions of leadership.

Dr. Bail said an educational program should provide for maximum growth and development of the student. It should also develop the desire in the student to think critically and work intelligently to improve his personal, social, physical and spiritual environment.

The third job is to develop the students' desire and willingness to make his maximum contribution to the general welfare of society as a whole.

Coffee series ends year Monday; seniors will discuss vocations

Monday's Coffee Hour will conclude the "most successful year."

That was the opinion of both student and faculty chairmen. Wilfred Payne, faculty chairman, labelled this year's Coffee Hours as the best in the four years of their existence.

Monday's concluding Coffee Hour will deal on "Interesting Vocations—What Will You Do?" The panel will be made up of several seniors who have chosen the professions they plan to enter after graduation. They will tell why those jobs appealed to them.

The meeting will be held in the faculty clubroom at 3 p. m. and will preview Wednesday's Vocations Day.

The success of this year's Coffee Hours was attributed by Student Chairman Marjory Mahoney to "the variety of topics and the interesting guest speakers." She noted "If a student complained to me that a topic was bad," Miss Mahoney added, "I merely asked him to suggest a better one, and I had him on the panel the next time."

Hosman gets post

E. W. Hosman, director of the Summer Sessions at the University of Omaha was named to serve on the executive committee of the North Central Association of Summer School directors at a recent organizational meeting of the group.

Graduate exams will begin next Monday

Graduate Record Exams will be given next Monday, May 2, and Tuesday, May 3.

Three profile tests will be given to graduating students. These include one on physics, chemistry, literature and fine arts; one on biological sciences and social studies; and one on mathematics and verbal factor. Tests last on the average of one hour and 45 minutes. An advance test will be given covering the student's major or proposed major.

Vocations Day will 'neglect' bakers

There won't be a seminar for future house-to-house bread salesmen on Vocations' Day, but the man with the shiny little basket hasn't been neglected.

The student planning to become a bread salesman will need to be an extrovert, well adjusted to life and self confident. If he wants to be among the more successful in his profession, he had better not be nervous, moody or unsympathetic.

This word comes from Dr. Claude E. Thompson, director of guidance and testing, in a paper he read before the Midwest Psychological Association Saturday. The paper, entitled "Traits Relative to Performance of Route Bakery Salesmen," tells the main points of research done by graduate student Raoul Amundsen.

Amundsen received his BA in psychology in 1947 and is working for his Master of Arts Degree under Dr. Thompson. As part of his project, he made a study of 275 employees of a chain bakery operating in several states.

Results were obtained by comparing the 45 most successful salesmen with the 45 least successful on intelligence and 30 personality traits.

Man's domain falls; woman invades 'Y'

Man's last stronghold has finally been invaded—and by a pretty OU coed.

The trend of women in voting booths, in saloons and barber shops, in pants and in rassel rings was climaxed last week when Judy Rutherford, writing major, was appointed publicity director of the Omaha YMCA.

"I have a desk in the front office," she confided, "but they won't let me back in the gym for a fast game of basketball."

When interviewed, Judy was "up to her chin" in proofs of the Tomahawk of which she is editor. "Until I graduate in August, I'll work for the 'Y' only two hours a day. After that, who knows?"

Politicians prepare for all-school vote

OU politicians will take to their soap boxes next week in preparation for the all-school election to be held a week from today—May 6.

The Student Council is meeting this afternoon to approve petitions of candidates for the offices. All petitions were deadlined yesterday.

Guests to be feted by Engineers' Club

Prospective engineering students from high schools in and around Omaha will be guests of the Engineer's Club during Engineer's Day May 7.

The program will begin at 9:30 a. m. with a movie and orientation lecture. Tours will be conducted through the Department of Engineering and the shops. The purpose of the event is to acquaint students with the various aspects of engineering.

The students will be divided according to their interests in specific branches of the field, and each group will be escorted by a member of the club.

Leaders are Bib Kruse and Herbert Larsen for the aeronautical group; Duane Olberts and Don Slezak for the industrial group; Eugene Andrews and John Pizzato for the civil and architectural groups; Richard Hill and Ray Siverson for the electrical group, and Alfred Stone and Thomas Vierling for the general engineering group.

Physics and chemistry exhibits will be on display and demonstrations will be given by surveying parties.

Methods of modern visual education seen

Modern methods of presenting information to classes were demonstrated to the faculty Wednesday, as part of the Visual Education program at OU.

President Bail pointed out that we are no longer in the horse and buggy days and should make use of modern equipment in the education field.

Slides, movies, charts, wire recorders and the Vu-Graph were demonstrated. Faculty members who helped with the exhibitions were Frank H. Gorman, Russell C. Derbyshire, Leslie N. Garlough, Jack G. Somny, V. J. Kennedy, Margaret Killian and Alvin Goe-ser.

Ma-ie Day schedule includes five events

Cornerstone for Fieldhouse will be laid May 13

The cornerstone of the Fieldhouse will be laid two weeks from today.

Scheduled for 4:30 p. m., the ceremony will be part of the Ma-ie Day celebration. A box containing information for posterity will be cemented into the wall at the northeast entrance.

Guests at the proceedings will include the Board of Regents, President Emieritus Rowland Haynes and President Bail. Others are Herbert Storey, Alumni Association president and Jack Adwers, building and grounds superintendent. Program speakers will be selected from this group.

A recent copy of all university publications will be placed in the cornerstone box. Also to be sealed away are a list of university organizations and a record of OU athletic activities.

On the outside will be a plaque marking the box and giving the date. The university band, under the direction of V. J. Kennedy, will play. Dolores Hughes is chairman of the Student Council committee planning the commemoration activities.

Woods names 9 more Vocations speakers

Vocations Day interpreters for nine more seminars have been announced by John E. Woods, Vocations Day chairman. These persons will speak from 2 to 3 p. m. May 4.

Elmer Gruenig, president of Associated Artists of Omaha, will speak at the seminar on creative art. Gruenig is also a representative of Pioneer Art Calendar Company.

Students interested in retailing will hear G. O. Pearson, general merchandising manager for Thomas Kilpatrick and Company.

The property manager for the Byron Reed Company, Inc., will speak at the seminar on real estate. Co-speaker will be C. B. Stuhrt, realtor for the Stuhrt-Bedford Company.

The seminar on general business will have as its speaker Hugh A. Wichert, assistant chief accountant for the Fairmont Foods Company.

Howard E. Degler, technical director of Morley Company, Inc., will speak at the mechanical engineering seminar.

The home economist for Fairmont Foods Company will speak at the seminar on foods and nutrition. She is Patricia McMahon.

In the professional nursing seminar, Mrs. Marie Kilmer will be the interpreter. Mrs. Kilmer is the assistant executive secretary in charge of Counseling and Placement of nurses for the State of Nebraska.

Hugh L. Templeton, technical director for the Fairmont Foods Company, will speak at the seminar on chemistry and chemical engineering.

The speech seminar will have as its interpreter Virgil Sharpe. Sharpe is the assistant manager and program director for the Stuart radio stations.

Full day assured from breakfast to Peony dance

Ma-ie Day's calendar of events was announced Wednesday by Lloyd Metheny, general chairman of the May 13 festival.

The 1949 celebration will feature five big events. An early breakfast will head the parade of activity followed by baseball games, parade, skits and dance.

Breakfast will be served between 7:30-8:30 in Elmwood Park. Meal tickets will go on sale next week at the ticket office. Student's price is 25 cents. Guests must pay 35 cents.

Baseball games between the Greeks and Independents will follow at 10:30. Both boys and girls teams will participate.

The annual parade of floats and decorated cars will start at 11 o'clock. "All cars and floats must be registered with the Dean of Students by Tuesday, said Metheny.

The identity of the Ma-ie Day Princess, Attira XV, will be revealed during the Tribal Presentations in the afternoon. Skits by various university groups will begin at 1 o'clock and last until 4:30.

Award to the organizations winning the float and skit competition will be presented at the dance in the evening. "This year ribbons as well as cups will be given to the winners," said Metheny.

Ribbon permanent award They will be a permanent award that the organizations may keep, he explained. To have permanent possession of the cups, the groups must win it three consecutive times.

Pianist Barclay Allen and his "New Big name of 1948" orchestra will play for dancing from 8 to midnight at Peony Park. Couples will be admitted by two activity cards or one activity card and $1.20.

'49 seniors will be alumni dance guests

OU alumni will extend welcoming hands to graduating seniors of '49 next Friday night at the Birchwood Club.

All graduating seniors, alumni and Faculty members are invited to the Alumni Lang Syne Dance, which begins at 9. The dance has the double purpose of drawing graduates-to-be into the fold and giving the alumni a chance to talk over old memories.

Vivien Smith and Virginia Shields are in charge of arrangements. The ticket sales committee is made up of Harold Henderson, Robert Turner, Betty Blissard, Vickery and Warren Vickery. Robert Rousek and Dean Neill are handling publicity.

Tickets are on sale at the Alumni Office, Van Avery's Sporting Goods and Russell's Sporting Goods for $1.50 per couple, tax included.

4 psychologists to Chicago convention

Learning about new developments in their field are four psychometrists from the child study clinic who are now attending the Midwest Psychology Association conference in Chicago.

Martha Cole, Geraldine Whitted, Allan Gottneid and Lillian Bozell will return Sunday after the three-day convention.

Central takes lead in intramural race

Central's win in the intramural track meet boosted the Eagles into first place in the race for the season's all-sports trophy.

The Eagles earned 10 points in track to hike their season's total to 29. South failed to place in the sport, slipped to second with 28½. North got two points in track to move into a challenging position with 25 counters.

The rest of the field: Tech 18, Alpha Sigs 16, Outstate 7, Benson 5½ and Thetas 3. Several teams are still in the running for the trophy since golf, tennis and softball are still on the docket. Softball managers of fraternity teams are urged to contact Intramural Supervisor Don Pfister immediately.

Indianola, Iowa—OU's improving track team racked up seven firsts Tuesday to finish second in the Simpson College triangular meet. Central College of Pella, Iowa, was a poor third in the contest.

Best individual performance for the Indians was turned in by little Nat Fitz. He took first place in the broad jump with a leap of 22-ft. 4¼-in.

A tough break cost Bernie Anderson, freshman distance man, a win in the mile. After a battle on the last turn he came into the stretch with a three stride lead. Forty yards from the finish line he stumbled and by the time he regained his stride, he was in third place. Bernie came right back an hour and a half later to take second in the two mile.

High scorer for OU was Cleveland Marshall. He put together a first in the 220, a second in the Ray Nelson, playing in the No. 5 position, had his best round of the year, 75, to whip Bluejay Dayton Smith, 3-0. In the same foursome, Indian Bill Hargens tied Ed Campbell 1½-1½. Nelson and Hargens captured best ball, 3-0.

Indians Bill Berner and Dick Fowler, No's 3 and 4 respectively, had a rough afternoon. Berner (78) tied Frank Ostronic (78), 1½-1½. Creighton's Jack O'Neill (76) disposed of Fowler, 3-0. Ostronic and O'Neill won best ball, 2½-½.

The would-be-bridge players lost the bid to nine student councilmen last week. The nine trumped the ace five other voters were "sure" was still good.

An aroused student body is asking, "Why?" Those who voted against the proposal say that the classes they represent gave them no clue as to their sentiments. However, the council did receive letters from eight organizations and the Office and the council meeting.

OU 16-11 win 1st over CU golfers

Omaha University's golfers Tuesday accomplished a goal set three years ago when they trampled Creighton, 16-11, on the Indian Hills links.

It was the first victory over a Bluejay golf team in history for the Indians and the most satisfying win since John Campbell took over the coaching duties in 1947.

Captain John Duncan came through with the best round of the day as he shot a sparkling 73 to dispose of Tommy O'Brien (76), 2½-½.

Indians and Bluejays tangle at Municipal Stadium today

Bridenbaugh or Kostal will pitch

The Indian nine gets a chance to shatter the Creighton baseball jinx this afternoon at Municipal Stadium at 3.

Also at stake is the Boys Town Greater Omaha Round Table Trophy that goes to the winner of the OU-Creighton series.

Last year, the Hilltop school captured the trophy behind the twirling of their ace, Lou Kubat. Indian Jack Lacy was the victim twice, 1-0 at Fontenelle Park and 4-3 at Legion Park. The latter game was an 11-inning heartbreaker.

This year, Lou Kubat is gone but he left behind his younger brother Tom for the mound duties. Tom played behind the plate last year but seems to be as effective a chucker as his older brother. Lacy has been bothered by a sore arm this season so the OU pitching chores will go to Bud Bridenbaugh or George Kostal.

Creighton tops Marines
Creighton appears to have a potent team again this year. In their only appearance this season, they toyed with the Marines, a local sandlot crew, 8-2. Pitcher Tom Kubat whiffed eight batters in a three-inning stint.

Coach Yelkin said that he still isn't decided on the lineup but that Duane Lippold will probably start at catcher, Jack Sueme at first, Bugs Redden at second, Chad Taylor at shortstop and Walt Mat-ejka at third.

In the garden will probably be Leroy Holtz, Bill Spellman and Jerry Easterhouse or Bob Murray. Freddy Abboud, who has been sort of a handyman this spring, may see duty in the infield.

The Yelkinmen concentrated this week on swatting practice. Hitting has been their glaring weakness in the games already played. The squad spent four hours on hitting alone last Tuesday. "The boys are due to explode and I hope it's against Creighton" remarked the Indian baseball mentor.

Tennists start rough assignments in Iowa

The Indian tennis team began the roughest week-end on their calendar this morning.

The Red and Black crew set out at sunrise for Des Moines, where they were to meet the Drake Bulldogs at 9 o'clock. After playing the Bulldogs they will take in the Drake Relays and then travel to Ames for a Saturday date with Iowa State's net crew.

A victory over Iowa State would be a great personal triumph for Harold Hlad, veteran OU netman. Last year, the Iowans thumped a weaker Indian crew, 7-0.

As of Thursday noon, Coach George Pritchard was not sure of his traveling squad. Those definitely making the trip are Fred Pisasale, Harold Hlad, Jim Reed and David Davis. The fifth position, however, was still a toss-up between letterman Bob Wray and newcomer Don Easter.

Pisasale's great performance in upsetting Morningside's Lynn Foster last week makes him a sure bet for the No. 1 spot against the Iowa foes. Harold Hlad will probably hold down the second singles spot.

Full curves come from square meals.

Central nudges Tech in intramural track

How They Finished
Central	33
Tech	32½
Outstate	28
North	22½
Benson	13

Central nosed out Tech by half a point to cop the Intramural Track Meet on the university cinders Monday.

The final score read 33 to 32½. Third-ranking Outstate garnered 28 points.

Probably the most thrilling event of the afternoon was furnished unexpectedly by Benson Pole Vaulter Paul Larmon.

At the height of what might have been a winning vault, the bamboo pole supporting him snapped, sending Larmon into the pit on his head and shoulders. Horrified spectators, fearing a broken neck, rushed to his assistance. But Larmon got up unhurt and went on to tie Outstate's Ralph Pettit for first at 10-ft. 1-in.

Don Bahnsen came up with his second half mile victory in seven days. Teammate Dick Nelson followed him across the finish line while Don Thompson missed fourth place by half a step.

The Red and Black was without the services of five key men. High jumpers Glen Richter and Brad Johnson, pole vaulter Larry Christensen and weight man Phil Barber missed the trip because of injuries or inability to get off from work.

Bob Dow made the journey but was hampered by his badly bruised heel. With his left foot heavily taped, he ran third in the high hurdles but was unable to compete in the broad jump and javelin.

Scholastic sorority initiates 8 pledges

Formal initiation and a banquet were held for eight Alpha Lambda Delta pledges in the Faculty club-room Wednesday evening. The sorority is a national scholastic honorary for freshmen women.

Dr. Nell Ward, acting head of the Chemistry Department, was initiated as an honorary member.

Those making the 3.5 scholastic average necessary for initiation are Pat Doyle, Eileen Duncomb, Rosamond Johnson, Doris Hanson, Doris Gibbs, Mary Gardner, Suzanne Nelson and Mary Irene Squires.

During the banquet which followed the ceremony, talks were given by Dean Mary Padou Young and Faculty Advisor Gertrude Kincaide, head of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures. Toastmistress was Sally Step.

Placecards were gold candles, the sorority's emblem, and the centerpiece and decorations carried out the sorority's colors of red, gold, and white.

Arrangements for the banquet were under the direction of Marion Heiser. Assisting were Edith Hass, Pauline Rudolph, and Nancy Lindborg.

Mary Dell Perrin to marry in June

The engagement of Mary Dell Perrin to Robert F. Mahood has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal G. Perrin.

Miss Perrin is a student at the university and is a member of Chi Omega.

The couple is planning a June wedding in Kansas City, Miss Perrin's former home.

Ex-humanities tutors will meet in Europe

Four former humanities tutors of the University of Omaha will be reunited overseas next month, when Miss Emily Reynolds and Miss Sara Lee Baird arrive in England, and later, in Europe.

Miss Reynolds and Miss Baird, who have been tutors here this semester, left this week for New York City where, on April 26, they will board The America for Southampton. In London they will visit former tutor, Miss Mary Jean Louckes, who arrived in England early this month.

The two will then go to Scotland, and later to Italy, Switzerland and France. They will spend about four months on the continent. In Paris, they will be met by Miss Nancy Keegan, who tutored here last year, and Miss Peggy Page, also an Omahan. Both are working with ECA (The Marshall Plan). Miss Keegan is a bi-lingual secretary, and does most of the interpreting for her department.

Miss Reynolds was Queen of Ak-Sar-Ben during 1947-1948. She and Miss Baird have planned for several years the trip together.

Social Register

A tea for high school seniors interested in music was planned at the Kappa Mu Lambda meeting Thursday afternoon.

The honorary music fraternity met at the home of President Ted Frazeur.

Al Epstein was elected president of Beta Tau Kappa at a meeting Tuesday at the home of Mort Kaplan.

Other new officers are Barney Kadis, vice president; Gordon Bernstein, secretary; Willis Epstein, treasurer; and Irvin Ruderman, historian.

Alpha Sig's choose frat Sweetheart

The Sweetheart of Alpha Sig will be revealed at their annual spring dance May 6.

The dance will be held in the ballroom of the Livestock Exchange Building from 9 to midnight. Ray Bachman's orchestra will play for the informal all-Greek affair.

This year's choice was drawn from a field of five lovelies selected by members of the fraternity. Candidates are Joan Nickerson, Chi O; Natalie Schroen, Gamma; Carol Dawson, Sig Chi; Mary McBride, Phi Delt; and Edith Hass, Kappa.

The Sweetheart selected by secret ballot will be crowned by President Richard Polinske during the intermission.

Time saver: love at first sight.

Chi O's celebrate sorority founding

Twenty-five actives and alumnae of Zeta Delta chapter of Chi Omega were dinner guests of Kappa chapter in Lincoln Friday night.

The group went by chartered bus to attend the sorority's Spring Eleusinia at Hotel Cornhusker.

Following the banquet commemorating Chi Omega's founding in 1895, the Lincoln chapter entertained the Omaha group at a coffee hour at the sorority house.

Advisory board members Margaret Killian and Mildred Hollinsworth also made the trip with the group.

Mrs. Eugene Church and Marilyn White were in charge of arrangements.

Alimony: high cost of leaving.

Phi Delt's sponsor party at Brewster

The Phi Delt's held Corral Cut-ups, an informal party-dance, at Inspiration Lodge, Camp Brewster, last Friday evening from 8:30 to 12.

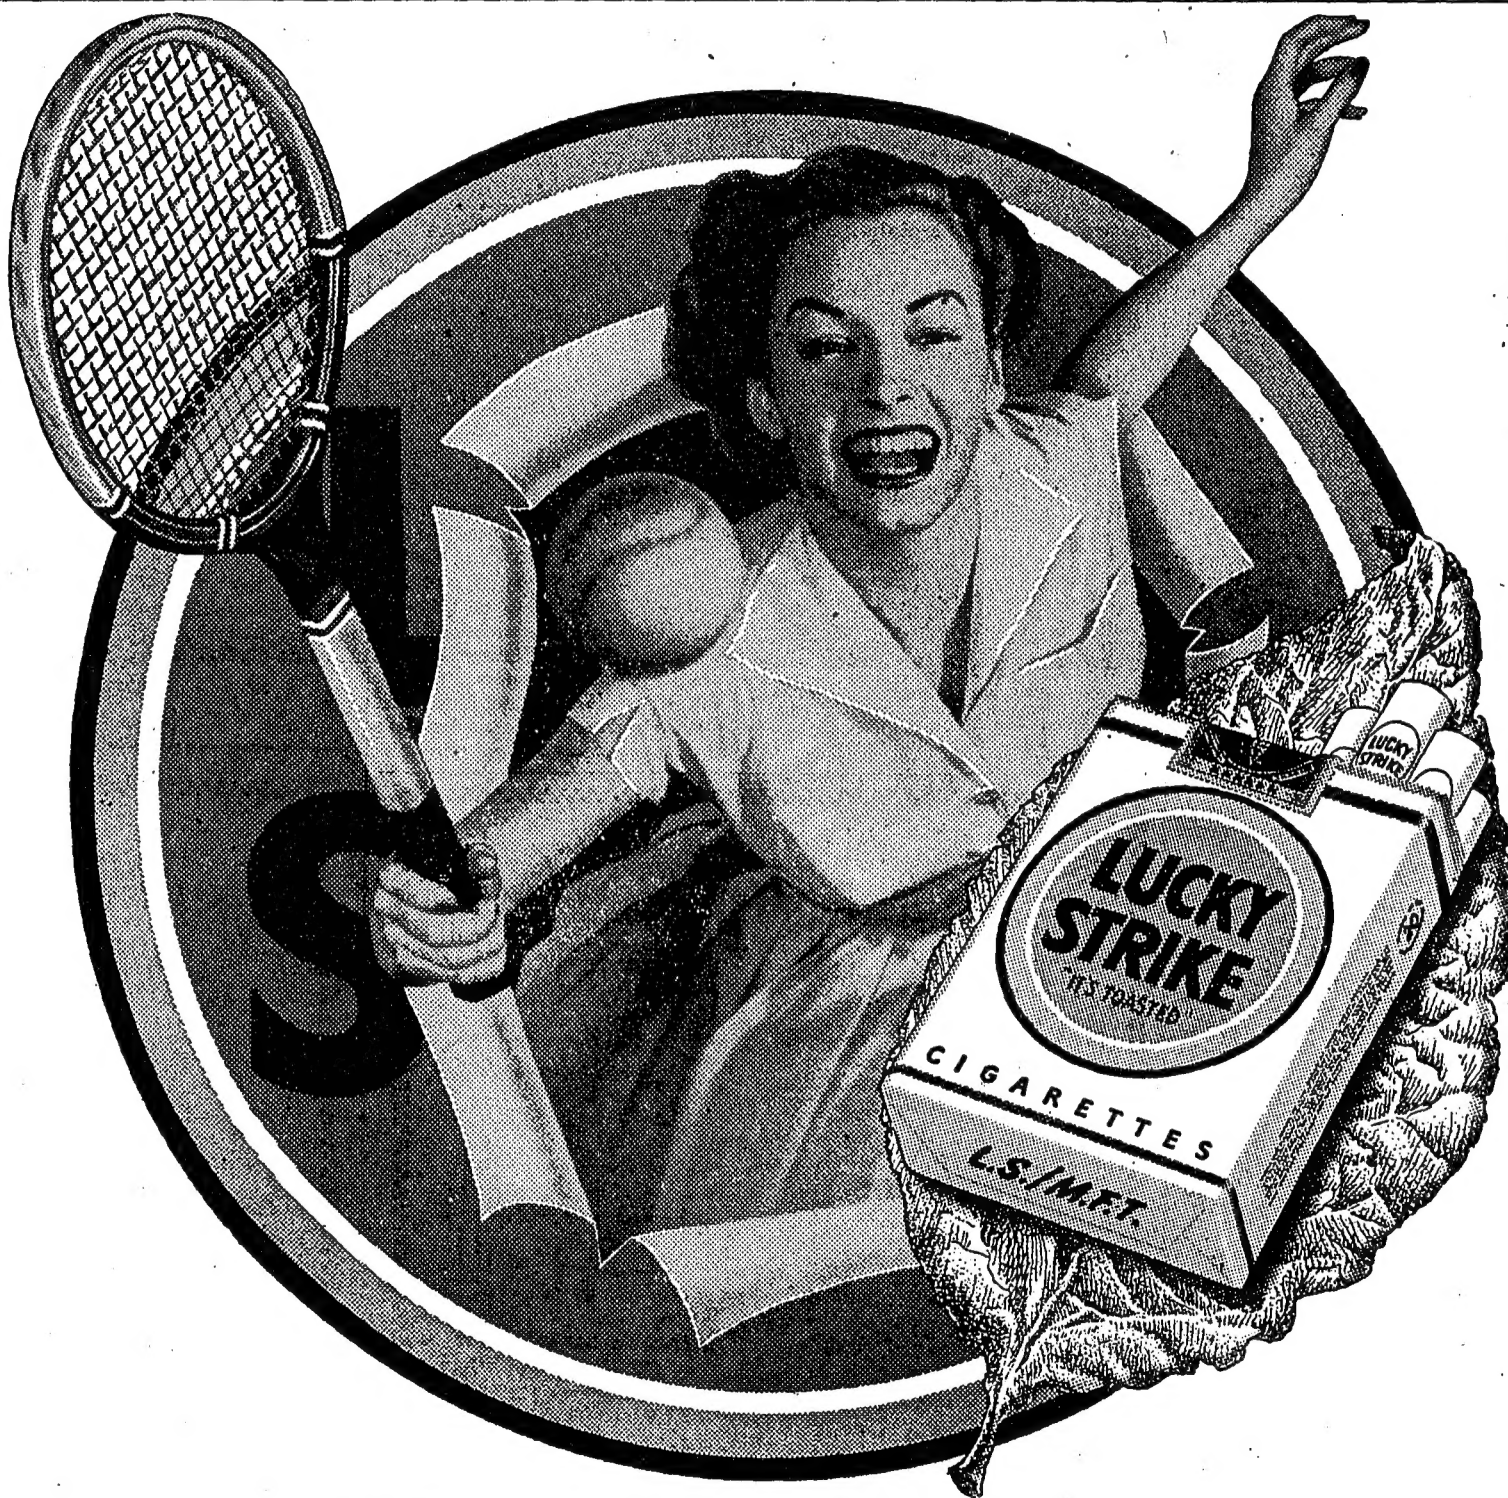

Phi Delt's and Phi Sig's and their dates danced to a juke box, took part in community singing, and were served refreshments during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. George Rayburn were sponsors of the party.

Pat Flood headed the arrangements committee.
